THE KLONDIKE STAMPEDE

CHAPTER I

Arrival of Excelsior and Portland with Treasure and News of Great Strike - Excitement that Followed, and the Stampede for Klondike

On the 16th of June, 1897, the steamer Excelsior, of the Alaska Commercial Company, steamed into the harbor of San Francisco and came to her dock near the foot of Market Street. She had on board a number of prospectors who had wintered on the Yukon River. As they walked down the gangplank they staggered under a weight of valises, boxes, and bundles. That night the news went East over the wires, and the following morning the local papers* printed the news of the ar-

* The Examiner was practically "scooped" on the first story, giving it only a few lines; the Chronicle and the San Francisco Call, perceiving its news value, served it in the most sensational manner. The New York Herald printed the story simultaneously. Mr. Hearst, of the New York Journal (and the San Francisco Examiner), telegraphed San Francisco to know what was the matter, and
