Richest Reefs: Indonesia Michael Aw

The words 'pristine' and 'richest' should not be thrown around lightly, however, as the amazing imagery in this book reveals – this is exactly how to describe the reefs of Indonesia.

With more than 3500 species it is the heartland of biodiversity, akin to the forests of the Amazon. Michael has explored the reefs from the extreme west to the far east of Indonesia but has only scratched the surface of this vast archipelago.

This majestic book boasts a simple layout that allows you to enjoy the images for what they are; incredible and awe-inspiring. Each geographical region is separated by a travel essay by Michael.

One of the best parts of the book is the time taken to name each photo or series. Let me wet your appetite and spark your curiosity with a few... Mick Jagger, flash dance, blue cigars, parlour gossip, coconut spa, chapel viva Las Vegas and I dream of Christmas!
